

You get them?

Literally just now, took them forever to find it
It was outside. God damn I hate ups
Rhinos are cold but alive, seem alright at first glance here
Paupuan are moving around, them seem unphased
Somehow ups managed to get the box wet too lol

Well at least it was packed good with heat

Female is holding her mouth like this unsure emoticon

She's going into shed. It will shed off. My CB one does that. They seem to rub it Take a bit of listerine, dilute it and just hold her upside down and squirt someone it.

The blood in the mouth will shed out?

Yeah it's a rub. Well no not the blood obviously. Probably rubbed it in the bag during transit
She ate last week and defacated Sat no prob

The male has blood too, they must have been rubbing hard
Poor guys, they are cool animals, that's for sure
They are making a lot of noise, like that puffing noise, they do that for you?
My boas do it a bit, if it's the same noise

Yeah they do. My scrubs do it on occasion to. They're very huffy and puffy

They don't really look like they want to bite at all

They're sneaky. Just watch your face smile emoticon

The male came up and out of the bag like a cobra and sat there, just looked at me, I thought I was going to get nailed Haha okay

Dilute listerine a bit and just clean it out. Two or three times should help it heal quick

I have Baytril if you think that would be better

Na, Baytril is not good. I use Ceftazidime (Fortaz)
But it's just a minor rub

Alright, she's drinking like crazy now. I'll let her settle a bit and later this afternoon I'll flush that side of her mouth

I'll have someone home to help then too, lol

Cool. It definitely wasn't like that or I would of let you known. Definitely a bag rub

It looks super fresh, I'm sure it happened in the bag
I've seen a lot worse in wild stuff in the field, it's weird what they do in there
Bothrops go nuts, they start biting it
Sometimes at least

Yes they do! My favorites. I have asper, atrox, brazili, moojeni, leucurus, and venezuelensis

Haha, sounds like fun.
Big mean stinky asper makes a good pet lol!

The best. Hey you know anybody looking for smokin CB'14 Amazon Tree Boas? Reds?

Naw, if I see someone I'll give them a heads up though

Ok

Any way to distinguish the sex on these rhinos without a probe?

I forgot to mark them! My bad. Bigger one is female

Cool
I had a little dipsadine slip through the tub gap in my little rack, now I'm paranoid of this little stuff getting put im not sure if it's from the rubbing or what, but the male is blowing bubbles out his nose. I assume you would have mentioned resp issues if they had them before you sent them out - lol! Ill keep my eye on it, and I do have that baytril if they end up needing it Really? They were kept at 88 with overall ambient of 80.

MAR 3RD, 4:02PM

I definitely didn't see that or notice it.

some people say it can happen from cold shipping but I dunno if there is truth in that I'll keep an eye on em
